

Kishor Bhandari is a senior civil engineer and Department coordinator with extensive experience in engineering management. He graduated from National College of Engineering with first class honors in B.E in Civil Engineering and obtained his Master of Engineering Management from the Himalayan Institute of Science and Technology, Purbanchal University. Mr. Bhandari began his academic career as teaching assistant of Nepal's most popular engineering institute, National College of Engineering in 2017. In addition to teaching and research, he held key academic and managerial responsibilities, as coordinator of the department and manage the survey related activities. He has been involved as an expert for managing the survey camp for various engineering campus for more than 7 years. He has received the 6 days training for Training for Trainers (TOT) provided by Council for Technical Education and Vocational Training (CTEVT). Additionally, he has received the Training for Trainers on Climate change and Its Impact provided by Institute of Engineering, Tribhuvan University for 3 days. Also, he has published several research articles on engineering management on reputed journals.

www.nce.edu.np